

Short Bio – Nasika Pace

Pacemaker is a company based in Kampala, Uganda and Baltimore, Maryland that specializes in management consulting services.

The company has set its aspirations on implementing a strategy that builds on offering quality training and consulting services to a wide variety of customers - from corporations to microfinance institutions across the globe. This is achieved by understanding the requirements of the customer and initiating appropriate responses to them in a timely and professional manner. Since its inception, the objective of the company has been to offer superior services to meet the changing needs of its clients.

Nasika Pace, Pacemaker Managing Partner, has a Bachelor's degree in International Relations from the University of Virginia. As well, she has completed a Master of Public Policy degree from the University of Michigan. Her professional experience has included work on both the formal and informal financial sector in East Africa and beyond. Her consulting strengths include: Strategic and business planning, financial analysis, activity based/product costing and project management. Nasika is a MicroSave Certified Service Provider in Process Mapping and Institutional and Product Risk Analysis.